Blog entry about my uncle Alberto and his job.

Hi everyone. Today, I want to write about my uncle Alberto. He has a cool job, he is a teacher!

Alberto has to teach kids maths, spanish and science. His duties include taking care of them, too. What Alberto loves best about his job is when kids bomb him with questions, wanting to learn everything. What he doesn't like is when the kids make a lot of noise and don't pay him attention.

All in all, I feel proud because he is teaching kids important things that they'll need in the future.
